AND SOME STRONG

In Great Measure, However, the Whole List Was Slow and Heavy.

SPECULATION IN COTTON

SOME ANXIETY AS TO THE RE-SULT IN WALL STREET.

New York, Nov. 4.-Today's stock market was a two-sided affair, in that some stocks were weak and some were strong.

stocks were weak and some were strong. The great body of securities, however, was inert and the price movement was listless. Points of strength were scattered widely through a miscellaneous list of specialties, some of them decidedly obscure. Railroad stocks generally and some high priced industrials were inclined to be heavy. This was true of United States Steel in the early part of the day, as well as of Amalgamated Copper and the railroad equipment stocks.

The operations that made stocks strong from time to time were greatly concentrated in their execution and apparently in their origin. The fall of 2 points in New York Central, following yesterday's news of a new issue of stock to the extent of 25 per cent of the present volume, was in Die with similar action of Pennsylvans, and New York, New Haven & Hartford, when additional stock issues were announced by those companies.

The violent speculation in progress in the cotton market and anxiety as to its outcome is accented as an object lesson in conservative financial quarters.

There were fresh reports today of conditions in foreign money markets that are not reassuring. It was reported that another advance in the official discount rate of the Imperial Bank of Germany had come into discussion again.

The unchanged Bank of England rate made a cheerful impression on speculators, but the decline in condition of that institution, as well as of the Bank of France indicated that the hoped-for recuperation at those points was not going cuperation at those points was not going on. Sterling exchange here declined

Bonds were heavy. Total sales, pa value, $1,652,000. United States 4s registered declined 1
